

Review of Peter Thomas Roth Anti-Aging Cleansing Gel

This is a great product by Dermadoctor and right now through Amazon they have a special promotion going that you can save $5.00 when you spend $50.00 or more on any thing in the Dermadoctor line. Also, there is another special offer going you can get free domestic expedited shipping on Dermadocotr of orders over $49.

Peter Thomas Roth anti-aging Cleansing Gel is an anti-aging cleansing gel. This cleaning gel is so refreshing and invigorating that works to resurface the skin. This product works deep into your pores to relax fine lines and wrinkles. What is so nice about this product is not just that it relaxes fine line in wrinkles, but is also works to purge the skin from impurities.

Our skin becomes so infected on a daily basis by all the smog and other elements in the environment that only make our poor skin conditions more apparent. This is gentle enough to use on a daily basis, but strong enough to purge impurities and wipe away dead skin cells. The two agents that work to resurface the skin in this product is Glycolic and Salicylic acid, these two ingredients are the ones responsible for purging and exfoliating the skin.

I would not recommend this product if you have sensitive skin. All the ingredients in this product are not natural, so you might get a little skin irritation from this product, especially if you use it on a daily basis. Also, if you have rosacea, eczema, seborrhea or use Retin-A this product is not a good choice for you. I would look into an organic product line that has no ingredients that will cause you to break out or make your condition worse.

Some of the other ingredients are Water, White Oak Bark Extract, Lime Extract, Linden Flower Extract Grapefruit Extract, Peach Extract Sodium, Arginine and more. As you can see there are a lot of extract in this product and that is why it can cause some irritation to those of you who have sensitive skin. This is a stand alone product; it does not come in a set. The cost of this product for and 8 oz. bottle is $35.00. Dermadoctor is known for its great products so I don't think you will be disappointed by this anti-aging gel. Just be careful if you have sensitive skin is my only warning about this product.
